Evangelistic Conference Hears Encouraging Baptisms Report

By Rev. JOE ABRAMS

Tupelo, Miss., Feb. 14 — Good attendance and a fine spirit featured the annual State Evangelistic Conference which came to a climactic close on Tuesday night of this week at Tupelo's Harrisburg Baptist Church.

An encouraging highlight was the announcement of the past year's figures on baptisms by Dr. Chester L. Quarles, executive secretary-treasurer and conference director. 16,766 baptisms were reported for the past associational year, 318 more than the 16,448 for the previous year, and the largest number for any year since 1951, the year of the big crusade. That year the figure was 17,527.

The 25 churches leading in the number of baptisms the past year were also announced and can be found in another column.

The conference got underway Monday afternoon at 1:50 to the strains of worshipful organ music with Mrs. Howard Aultman, of the host church, at the keyboard.

Church Redecorated
Greeting the visitors was a redecorated church auditorium and the words of the conference theme, "The Divine Imperative" across the choir loft.

Baptist Editors Told of Religious News Interest

MOBILE, Ala. (RNS) — Belief

that "religious news is on page one again to stay" was expressed at the annual meeting of the Southern Baptist Press Association here by Dr. C. Penrose St. Amant, professor of church history at New Orleans Baptist Seminary.

"People today don't want social security so much as they do cosmic security," he said. "There is a thorough-going concern in America for religion and theology today."

Eugene L. Hill of Richmond, Va., promotion secretary for the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board and former missionary in the Orient, told the meeting that news of foreign missions has great reader-interest because it is "a series of gospel success stories."

Purser Hewitt, managing editor of the Jackson (Miss.) Clarion-Ledger, propounded for the Baptist editors a "Ten Commandments of Journalism." He listed them as:

1. Thou shalt write with brevity.
2. Thou shalt explain all difficult words and answer all questions.
3. Thou shalt study the tools of thy trade.
4. Thou shalt plan to use pictures, charts, graphs and cartoons.
5. Thou shalt not overlook features.
6. Thou shalt always prepare slightly too much copy for the papers.
7. Thou shalt prepare copy systematically and send it to the printer in orderly fashion.
8. Thou shalt not mix fact and opinion in news stories.
9. Thou shalt present both sides of the question and champion one of them in editorials.

10. Thou shalt fight against mistakes of all kinds with all thy might.

Dr. H. H. McGinty of Jefferson City, Mo., editor of the Missouri Baptist publication The Word and Way, was elected president of the association. He succeeds B. J. Murrell of Carbondale, Ill., editor of the Illinois Baptist. Dr. Leon Macon, editor of the Alabama Baptist was named Vice-President and Rev. Hoyt Gibson, editor of the Kansas Baptist Digest was elected Secretary and Treasurer.

The organization's 1957 meeting will be held in Washington, D.C., next February.

Education Campaign Leaders Confer

Ross Barnett (center) well-known Jackson attorney and Baptist layman, is seen looking over organizational plans for Hinds County in the Baptist Education Building Fund Campaign along with Dr. Harry Lee Spencer (right) and Thomas B. Chaney, both of Jackson. Mr. Barnett has recently been named chairman for Hinds County while Dr. Spencer, secretary of the Mississippi Baptist Foundation, has been selected as co-chairman. Mr. Chaney, superintendent of missions for Hinds County Baptist Association, is state campaign director. Appointment of the Hinds leaders has been made by Owen Cooper, Yazoo City, president of the Mississippi Baptist Convention, which has approved the campaign. The purpose of the campaign is to raise $2,500,000 over the next five years for the building needs of Mississippi Baptist educational institutions. One-half would be contributed through the capital needs budget of the Cooperative Program and the other half through the special organization now being effected. (Photo by Joel Ray) secretary, mounted the rostrum to lead the gathering Baptist leaders from every section of the state in a spirited song and praise service.

Presiding over the opening session was Rev. O. B. Robertson, pastor Raleigh Church and chairman of the evangelism committee of the State Convention Board.

The opening devotional was led by Rev. Wayne Coleman, pastor First Church, Natchez.

Dr. Chester L. Quarles, Jackson, state executive secretary-treasurer and acting director of evangelism, spoke briefly on "Why We Are Here."

Next was a message on "The Divine Imperative and Personal Soul Winning" by Dr. Landrum P. Leavelle, pastor First Church, Charleston.

"The Message of Evangelism" the subject of a message by Dr. Leonard Sanderson, secretary of evangelism, Home Mission Board, Dallas.

Rev. Troy Prince, pastor Carthage Church, Spoke on "The Divine Imperative and the Church."

Dr. Weber Speaks
The afternoon session was brought to a close with an address on "Perennial Revival in A Church" by Dr. Jaroy Weber, pastor First Church, West Monroe, La.

"New Testament local churches were nerve centers of evangelism, and in this respect constitute a pattern for local churches of all ages," Dr. Weber said.

"The New Testament knows nothing of 'evangelism' apart from the church. Without evangelism, local churches soon become corrupt or die. The picture now being effected. (Photo by Joel Ray)

Young People For A Better Tomorrow BAPTIST BOOK STORE HONORS RETIRING LIBRARY SUPERVISOR

By C. C. WARREN
President,
Southern Baptist Convention
Charlotte, North Carolina

The cry for a better tomorrow comes from almost everywhere. Pastors, educational directors, Sunday school superintendents, if we are to have a better tomorrow, we simply must dare to do "the extraordinary" to reach, teach, and train our young people. Our tomorrow depends in a large way upon what we do about this today. May I sincerely urge you to do at least five things immediately.

I. Determine To Pay The Price

Valuable things do not come cheap. There is no easy way or "painless method" to reach young people. Here is a field where success is spelled out with capitals, WORK. Persistent, loving, understanding, continuous effort will melt indifferent attitudes. Young people can be reached — dare to pay the price and enlist them.

II. Select The Right Leaders

We should be very careful in the selection of every worker in our Sunday school, but in no age group should our officers and teachers be more thoroughly screened than when we select them to lead our young people. Characteristics, like character, should be above reproach. Profound convictions, understanding of, and love for young people, attractive personality, energetic resourcefulness, etc., should mark the leader of young people.

III. Provide Adequate Space And Attractive Facilities

Commercial amusements and worldly entertainers are our chief competitors for the loyalties of our young people. They invest large sums of money to provide facilities that are most attractive. Thousands of our churches should wake up and make attractive room for our young people. They deserve the best, give it to them and we will win and keep them.

IV. Organize To Reach Young People

Any Sunday school that has as many intermediate classes as they have classes for Young People, simply encourages intermediates to quit Sunday school upon arriving at the

Mrs. Genevieve Day

The Baptist Book Store employees and their families honored Mrs. Genevieve Day with a retirement party at the Waldorf Hotel, Jackson, on Friday night, February 10.

Mrs. Day has served the Book Store for almost 13 years, 11 years as Church Library Supervisor. Prior to her coming to the Book Store in May, 1943 she worked with the WPA Library for Hinds County.

Young People's age. Get back to that basic law of Sunday school: growth and provide an organization that will reach young people and keep them in our Sunday school and church services.

V. Don't Sell Them Short

Some church groups have apparently settled for programs that seek to parallel as closely as possible the attractions of the world. They feel that unless our churches make this type of appeal, we cannot reach young people. I believe that modern youth is serious minded and can be won with greater success through programs which hold high the ideals of our Christian faith. Recreation and entertainment, yes, but Christian recreation at its best—if you please!

Fellow pastors and Christian leaders, there is nothing new in what I have written here, but if you will dare to do these things, there will be something new about your church — New Young People for a Better Tomorrow.

Around seventy guests were present at the party, including the heads of the departments at Baptist Headquarters; her pastor and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Joe Thompson; her sister, Mrs. Harry H. Addison; Her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Day, from Marion, Arkansas; and Dr. and Mrs. G. Norman Price who is the Mississippi member of the Sunday School Board.

Miss Mary Peeples Is New Supervisor Of Library Work

Miss Mary Peeples

Shown above is Miss Mary Peeples, who is the newly appointed Church Library Supervisor for the Baptist Book Store, as announced by the manager, Mrs. O. M. Jones.

Miss Peeples of Florence has been employed at the Book Store for three years in charge of the Religious Book Department. She has had a wide experience in denominational work, having been at one time employed at the Sunday School Board, the Tennessee Baptist Convention Board, and later at the Mississippi Baptist Convention Board. She was librarian in her home church before moving her membership to the First Baptist Church in Jackson.

Miss Peeples says, "The Baptist Book Store is anxious to render every possible service

Protestants Protest Closing Of Seminary By Spanish Police

Sydney, Australia: A statement protesting the closing of the Protestant Seminary in Madrid, Spain, was issued on February 6, the opening day of the meeting at Sydney, Australia, of the Executive Committee of the World Council of Churches.

The church leaders protested against what it referred to as "most serious infringement of religious liberty," which at the very time of Spain's entry into the United Nations "contradicts the universal declaration of human rights and the principles of respect for the rights of religious minorities."

Recent reports from Spain indicated that Spanish Protestants had not yet been allowed to see the order of the Ministry of the Interior under which the 73-year-old seminary was closed by the Spanish police on January 23rd. The police action was taken under an order of the Ministry dated November 28, 1955. The police claim that the order from the Ministry called for the closing of the institution and all its departments. (Continued on Page 2) to church libraries in Mississippi. Catalogs are available which list books that have been approved for libraries. The new Church Library Book List is due March 1, and one will be sent to each library.

Another real service the Book Store renders is in making Miss Peeples available to any church in the state that may need her assistance in the organization of a library or in the revitalization of an inactive one. The only provision the church has to make is for her entertainment, her traveling expense being taken care of by the Book Store.

REA Meets Feb. 20-22

According to an announcement by Miss Ethel McKeithen, secretary, the tenth annual session of the Mississippi Baptist Religious Education Association will be held at the Edgewater Gulf Hotel, on the Gulf Coast February 20-22.

Sessions will begin at 1:30 p. m. Feb. 20. The closing session is scheduled to adjourn at 11:45 a. m. February 22.

Out of state speakers include Dr. W. L. Howse of the Sunday School Board, Nashville; Miss Adelle Carlson of the Sunday School Board; Miss Floriday Waite of the Sunday School Board; and Dr. W. W. Swartz of the New Orleans Seminary.

An added feature of the program will be an address by Mrs. John Stone of Jackson. Mrs. Stone is kindergarten director for the Broadmoor Baptist Kindergarten. She will discuss the latest kindergarten ideas which are being promoted by the Sunday School Board. The closing message will be delivered by Dr. Chester L. Quarles, executive secretary of the Mississippi Baptist Convention.

"Adding daily to the church by day those that are being saved, is the ideal, normal, healthy state of the church."

"The pattern of perennial revival is found in plain and lucid illustration in the book of Acts. Here was a church with a constituency of 120, an organization with plans, a message from Christ and a commission to the ends of the earth."

"The pastor is the key to perennial evangelism in a church! He must know more, feel more, do more, and believe more about evangelism than any member of his congregation."

"The big stick of the Devil is to get the preachers to become so discouraged, that he fails to believe that he can lead his church in the never-ending task of winning the lost."

"Too much of our present day preaching is apologetic rather than authoritarian."

"The greatest sin of Christians is prayerlessness. No church can develop the lost art of winning souls apart from prayer."

"There is no substitute for hard work. Redemption of lost men cost God too much for him to give it to our friends through us, at a cheap basement-bargain price."

"The Holy spirit will not lead us to bring every man to Christ but will empower us to bring Christ to every man."

"The only magic about a perennial revival is perennial penitence, perennial prayer, perennial preaching, perennial soul-winning, and perennial planning," he said in conclusion.

Dr. Quarles presided over the Monday evening session. Rev. Tom Pfeiffer, Meridian, led the devotional.

Dr. Patterson Speaks

The two principal speakers were Dr. E. N. Patterson, New Orleans Seminary and Dr. Dale Moody, Southern Seminary. Dr. Patterson, in his message, proclaimed:

"One of the fundamentals for dynamic preaching today is that the preacher has met God, not in my way, or your way but in his own way."

"God has always called His preachers. He calls them today and He will call them until Jesus returns. No man could preach without the consciousness that God has laid His hand on him."

"The objective source of authority for the preacher is the Bible."

"The reason for so much powerless preaching is the failure to give the Holy Spirit His proper place in preaching."

"The preacher's growth in the fruit of the Spirit is far more important than all the rules he may learn about preaching."

The conference resumed Tuesday morning at 8:50 with three full sessions bringing the meeting to a close at 9:15 that evening.

State Speakers

Those on program at the morning session included Rev. James Fancher, Harpersville; Rev. Vernon May, Tylertown, and Dr. Lewis Rhodes, Jackson.

Others on program at the afternoon and evening meetings included Dr. Joe H. Tuten, Biloxi; Dr. John G. McCall, Vicksburg; Rev. Allen Johnson, Natchez; Dr. Walter L. Moore, Meridian and Rev. Clark McMurray, Philadelphia.

Busy places between sessions were the tractroom and the Baptist Bookstore exhibit.

Most of the sessions were broadcast over a statewide network. Rev. Howard Aultman was host pastor. Cooperating in staging the conference were the churches of Tupelo and the Lee County Association.

This was the first time the State Evangelistic Conference had met in Tupelo. It had met previously in Columbus, Vicksburg, Clinton, Hattiesburg, Jackson and Gulfport.

A highlight of the conference was special music.

Others presiding over sessions were Rev. Clifton Perkins, West Point, and Dr. W. P. Davis, Flora, members of the evangelism committee.

Not all religious oppression is found behind the Iron Curtain. We have some of it in this country, sometimes right in our churches. In Communist areas, efforts are made to force the clergy to support the regime. In this country, there are those who put their own view and opinions above freedom of religious expression.

We personally know of clergymen who have lost their pulpits because they would not uphold certain partisan views.

When the preacher supports our views, we praise him; when out of his heart and mind he speaks contrary to our views, we want the church to "stay out of politics." Should our pulpits lead our thinking or support our prejudices? — Charles A. Wells

Miscellaneous

"This Is Your Life" was the theme of Vocational Emphasis Week at Wm. Carey, President I. E. Rouse; Dr. W. W. Logan, Medical Missionary to Nigeria; Dr. A. M. Fate, Dean of Men and Dr. Stanley Fowler, Mrs. J. K. Travis, H. H. Bridges and Dan Bates, Hattiesburg, and Vivian Geiger, Lucedale, were the speakers.

One Jones Jr. student joined an Ellisville church last month; 15 unsaved are reported from Southwest Jr.; Catherine Steen, BSU President at Co-Lin Jr., was recently elected "Miss Co-Lin"; 210 Baptists are enrolled at Itawamba Jr.; 22 unsaved reported from Co-Lin Jr.; 39 unsaved reported from Delta State.

Another meeting of the Youth Night Committee of the Miss. Bapt. Conv., meeting with pastors and leaders in the area of E. Central Jr. College at Decatur, has already petitioned for permission to resume the seminary operations, pointing out that the seminary has operated in its present form from 1947 until the present time with manifest tacit official consent. The seminary has never before been closed by the government in its 73 year history.

The seminary work which had been organized on an interdenominational basis in 1928 was interrupted a decade later by war conditions but not, its leaders said, by government order. Reference in police records describing the present closing are said to be the first indication to the seminary that specific authorization to carry on its program was going to be necessary.

After the war the seminary was investigated by the police and reopened in 1941 with ecumenical support. Neither then, nor following frequent police visits during the past nine years, has the question of government authorization been raised.

Spanish Protestant churches are said to regard the closing as an abrupt and unwarranted act menacing what they regard as their meagre rights under the present Spanish charter. In a petition to the Minister to the Interior, they say "the tolerance accorded or conceded to us by Article 8 of the Spanish charter implies necessarily the existence of Spanish Protestant pastors and therefore of institutions to prepare such pastors for the ministry. Even that private worship explicitly and positively authorized under the charter would be impossible without these pastors. The legal fact of open chapels and Miss. State has 115 new students this semester; 14 by letter and 3 by baptism have joined First Church, Starkville, recently.

Miss. College's Focus Week, with "Christ My Imperative" as the theme, brought many blessings, is the report. Sixteen student committees, with John Compere as general chairman, organized and carried out the week's activities. Average at M. C.'s Noontday prayer service last month was 160; first meeting of Y. Secret. Mrs. Day was presented an Argus Projector by the employees of the store.

At the time of her appointment as Consultant, (now known as "Supervisor") the Baptist Book Stores, under the direction of the Sunday School Board, entered vigorously on a program of establishment and promotion of church libraries. The ultimate goal was a library in every church; although such a goal is not achieved quickly, much progress has been made through Mrs. Day's efforts.

When she began on this program, there were only a few functioning libraries recorded in Mississippi; but today there are approximately 300 on her active mailing list in Baptist churches. Many more may be organized and functioning which have not reported to her.

Mrs. Day has travelled all over the state helping to establish, revive, and promote church libraries. Her vast knowledge of and abiding love for books, plus her enthusiastic and consecrated

Mr. and Mrs. Mize In Nashville Meet

Superintendent and Mrs. W. G. Mize of the Baptist Orphanage have just returned from Nashville where they attended the eighth annual meeting of the Child-Care Executives of Southern Baptists. ## HAUNTED HOUSE

By Ellen Brown

"Try to bring someone new next Sunday," the Sunday school department leader had said. Linda thought of those words as she ran to meet Mary.

"Who are you taking Sunday?" she asked Mary the first thing.

"I'm not sure yet," Mary said. "I've asked everyone I know. Everyone I know goes already."

"I can't think of but one person," Linda said, "and I don't want to ask her."

"I thought of her too," Mary said—"do you suppose we'd dare?"

"Well, we've been talking about asking Evelyn for a long time," Linda went on. "She has that big family—they're so unfriendly—she seems so big to be in our class!"

"But she can't help it if she's moved so much she's behind," Mary said—"and she has that big brother who's so—she might not even have anything to wear."

"Let's ask her this time. Oh Mary—you know we must," Linda said. "We're just thinking up excuses cause we're scared of that old house!"

"Come on," Mary said, "let's go."

Up the hill trudged the two girls. There was something scary about Evelyn's old house. It used to be a haunted house. Then Evelyn and her family had moved in. It still seemed scary. All the boys and girls still felt scary about going near the old house.

"Remember the time we thought we heard something in the attic?" Linda said to Mary.

The steps were still crumbling on one side. But Linda could see Evelyn's family had begun straightening some of the old house.

Timidly, she knocked on the door. A woman in a big cook apron came to the door.

"Is Evelyn here?" Linda asked in a small voice.

"Yes, come in," said Evelyn's mother. "I'll call her."

In a few minutes Evelyn came to the living room.

"Why hello, Mary! Hello, Linda!" Evelyn said surprised.

"We came to invite you to Sunday school," both the girls said at once.

"You did?" Evelyn said, surprised again.

"We want you to come," Mary said.

"You do?" Evelyn said, staring at them as if she could not believe what they said. All at once Evelyn seemed to beam with warm friendliness. "I just made a pan of fudge—would you girls want some?" She jumped up and went into the kitchen. In a minute she was offering them candy. Then she started talking. She talked about all the places she'd been, her friends and the fun they'd had.

"Why, she's just like us," Mary whispered to Linda.

"She's fun," Linda whispered back.

Evelyn stopped talking.

"What took you two so long to be friends? No one comes near our house—no one at all. They seemed—well—funny!"

"Your house used to be a haunted house," Linda explained. "Everyone is afraid of this house."

"We were today," Mary said—"we were scared to come. Once Linda and I heard something in the attic—all the boys and girls are scared of it!"

Evelyn laughed. "That's what they say but it isn't true. I learned something in the Bible that keeps you from being afraid." "What time I am afraid, I will trust in thee." (Psalms 56:3).

"We would have come sooner if we had remembered that verse," Mary said.

"Yes, we would," Linda agreed. "No more haunted house fears for me! I'll never be afraid to visit for Jesus again when I remember that verse!"

Are you afraid to visit for Jesus when you don't know the people very well? There is no such thing as a real haunted house, except when God is not there.

Satartia Church Calls New Pastor

Rev. Brady A. Henry

Rev. Brady A. Henry of Yazoo City became the pastor of Satartia Church on January 15. Mr. Henry has been temporary pastor of Rock Springs Church in Yazoo county for the past four months.

Mr. Henry is a graduate of Mississippi College, with a B. S. and a B. A. degree, and of Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas, with a B. B. degree, and has almost completed studies for an M. R. E. degree. He was pastor of the Central Baptist Church in Fort Worth while at the Seminary.

Mr. Henry's wife is the former Nan Carthledge, also a graduate of Mississippi College. They have one son, Robert.

Liberty (Newton) Builds New Church

By Mrs. Burke Murphy

Heads are being turned in the Liberty Community near Newton these days to look at the beautiful new Baptist Church that has recently been completed.

From the small vestibule at the front entrance, with its stained glass window honoring the first pastor the late Rev. James E. Chapman, to the soft carpet on the rostrum inside, the structure is the result of excellent workmanship and painstaking care. There is little wonder that the good people of this community fill its auditorium every Sunday morning.

Rev. T. L. Everett, pastor of the church for more than nine years, says that perhaps the greatest single factor behind the building of this beautiful new church was the faith of a layman named Henry S. Lay. Mr. Lay's devoted wife and companion, who died last year, had always dreamed of seeing a new building where the former church stood — a 50-year-old one room, white frame building to which four small Sunday School rooms had been added through the years. Following his wife's death, Henry Lay became more and more anxious to see a new house of worship erected on that site. And while a building fund of $3400 had been accumulated over a few years, with members donating an acre of corn, a March-born calf, a quilt, and a half dozen hens to the project, most folks thought this to be quite inadequate to begin talking about building.

GOING PLACES

By A. L. GOODRICH

Promotion Plan Works At Tomnolen

It's the same old story with Tomnolen and the Promotion Plan. A few weeks ago they requested that the Baptist Record be sent on trial for a few weeks to acquaint themselves with Mississippi Baptists' own Baptist paper.

The result was the usual one. They liked it. A letter from W. J. Cobb, Church Secretary, requested that the Baptist Record be continued on the EVERY FAMILY Plan.

Rev. E. M. Carpenter of Eupora is the pastor.

Record readers in Webster County are now listed as follows: ALVA, 17; CLARKSON, 52; CUMBERLAND, 22; CROSS ROADS, 34; Double Springs, 18; Edgeworth, 14; EUPORA, 161; Fellowship (Bellefontaine), 15; Harmony, 1; Hebron, 1; Lollar's Grove, 1; MANTEE, 85; MATHISTON, 70; MT. ZION, 32; NEW HOPE, 36; Philadelphia, 15; PILGRIM'S REST, 43; Sapa, 1; Spring Hill, 19; Walthall, 1; Tomnolen, 16; MT. VERNON, 38; MONTE VISTA, 32.

New Zion Is Back

New Zion Church, Lawrence County, is back on the EVERY FAMILY list of the Baptist Record. Some time ago, for economic reasons, the church felt it necessary to discontinue the EVERY FAMILY Plan. Like others that have done that, they soon saw that they needed the Baptist Record in order to keep up with what Baptists were doing at home and abroad.

Rev. W. A. Davis, New Zion pastor for 19 years and a great believer in the Baptist Record, had his church to re-adopt the EVERY FAMILY Plan.

During his pastorate there have been two church buildings erected; the most recent one is all paid for.
Record readers in Lawrence County are now listed as follows: NEW ZION, 24; Antioch, 17; ARM, 41; Bethel, 16; CAR-MEL, 30; CROOKED CREEK, 78; JAYESS, 43; MONTICELLO, 145; NEW HEBRON, 144; NEW HOPE, 37; NOLA, 35; OAK-VALE, 46; OLD SILVER CREEK, 44; PROVIDENCE, 31; SAUL'S VALLEY, 23; SHILOH, 79; SILVER CREEK, CAL-VARY, 89; TOPEKA, 20; WANNILLA, 48.

Evergreen Changes To EF Plan

Evergreen Church in Winston County, which has been subscribing for the Baptist Record on the individual basis, has changed to the EVERY FAMILY Plan. In other words they are handling the Baptist Record just as they handle Sunday School, quarterlies and other church affairs. The church pays the bill just as it pays for other literature.

Rev. C. R. Williams is the pastor.

Record readers in Winston County are now listed as follows: Antioch 2; BETHEL, 34; CALVARY, 42; Crystal Ridge, 13; Enon, 16; EVERGREEN, 21; GOOD HOPE, 46; HARMONY, 72; Holly Grove, 1; Hinze, 13; LIBERTY, 50; LOUISVILLE, EAST, 55; LOUISVILLE, FIRST, 388; LOUISVILLE, SOUTH, 35; LOUISVILLE, WEST END, 45; MACEDONIA, 27; MURPHY CREEK, 100; NOXAPATER, MT. CARMEL, 109; POPLAR FLAT, 40; SHILOH, 20; UNION RIDGE, 27; YELLOW CREEK, 21.

Ring it often

before too long there will be a baptistry behind the paneled wall at the rear of the rostrum. It's just like Henry Lay was thinking the other Sunday night, after everybody else had gone home and he was walking up the concrete-walk leading to the little cemetery adjacent to the church yard. "It's just like the words to that record that was playing over the amplifier in the belfry. 'It is no secret what God can do...'

Yazoo City, First Has Ground-Breaking

Ground breaking ceremonies for the First Church, Yazoo City, were held Sunday, Feb. 12 on recently acquired church property on Grand Avenue.

The congregation has approved contracts amounting to $400,000 for two new buildings.

Church officials guiding the church group through the construction period are: Dr. W. C. Fields, pastor, Darrington Cheatham, treasurer, Owen Cooper, building fund chairman, A. B. Kelly Jr. chairman of the building fund drive now in progress.

John Tims Ordained By Midway Church

Rev. John A. Tims was recently ordained to the full gospel ministry by Midway Church, Newton County, in response to a request from Providence Church of Grenada County.

The council, composed of Dr. John E. Carter, pastor; Dr. W. L. Compere, Rev. A. G. Smith, Rev. W. G. Cummings, Rev. Travis Simmons, Rev. J. R. Chittom, Rev. C. O. Lindsey, and Deacons C. D. Scoggins, Albert McDowell, and W. T. McMullan, had, on Tuesday night examined Mr. Tims as to his experience of grace, his call to the ministry, and his belief in the doctrines of the New Testament. Mr. Smith, pastor at Hickory, led in the examination.

Rev. W. L. Compere preached the sermon, Deacon C. D. Scoggins led the prayer, Dr. Carter who for eighteen months, had been the Rev. Mr. Tims' teacher in Clarke College, gave the charge, and Deacon McMullan presented a beautiful Bible on behalf of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Tims have moved into the Providence pastor's home where he is pastor.

A leading newspaper reported in January that its advertising revenue for 1955 topped $3 million. Apparently business believes that it pays to advertise. How much do we publicize the program of our churches?

Missions On Exhibit In Jones County

Rev. C. J. Rushing, Jones County Association Missionary, tells some thrilling stories about the growth of missions in Jones County.

He says that five years ago 15 children and three or four adults met in a four-room rented house. Soon another building was rented, and both were soon outgrown. First Church, Laurel decided to sponsor the mission, and a well-located lot was purchased where a temporary building was soon erected.

When the temporary building and its additions were outgrown a brick structure was built on a large lot, with an eye for growth. The people gave the temporary building and its adjoining Sunday School rooms to another mission, the only obligation being a promise to move the building off the lot.

At once the building was erected in a needy community to take care of the growing mission there. With the help of a sponsoring church a place was soon provided, with additional construction. Thus a mission, a small new church, and two large mother churches were made "to rejoice and be glad because the Lord was magnified."

Mr. Rushing continues, "The small group of 15 has now grown to a church congregation with 362 members, and a Sunday School enrollment of 385, with an average attendance of 192. This church since its organization has put more than $10,000 back into mission work. On Highway 15 you will notice a beautiful church building with steeple pointing proudly to the sky. But the building is

EVERY CHURCH SHOULD PROMOTE MAGNIFY CHURCH MEMBERSHIP WEEK

March 19-23, 1956

Southern Baptist associations and churches should be thinking about and making definite plans for the promotion of MAGNIFY CHURCH MEMBERSHIP WEEK, during the week of March 19-23. This is a simultaneous convention wide project promoted jointly by the state Training Union department and the Training Union Department, Baptist Sunday School Board, Nashville, Tennessee.

If you have not done so, read the article "Plan Now for Magnify-Church-Membership Week" in the January issue of the Baptist Training Union Magazine for suggestions about how to promote this week.

Here's an idea from Mr. C. Aubrey Hearn, Director of the Study Course, Training Union Department, Nashville. "Plan to have an associational clinic for teachers in the association who will teach these new books. Get a list of those who are to teach these books, and send them all an invitation to attend the clinic. The question, 'What is the best way to teach these new books?' may be answered at the clinic. There should be a conference on how to teach each of the new books."

The books are listed below by age groups: Adults, Joy In Church Membership; Young People, The Challenge of Church Membership; Intermediate, Now You Belong; Juniors, My Church and I; leaders of Primary children, To Church We Go.

COVINGTON ASSOCIATION ENLARGES UNITS

Mrs. J. B. Houston, Associational Training Union Secretary of Covington Association, reports great success in an enlargement effort among the churches listed to participate in the campaign.

Mrs. A. A. Greene, of West Point, will teach the Nursery, Beginner, Primary Leaders each night at the Olive Branch church. Classes will be provided for all age groups.

not complete." Plans are made for more educational space and a larger auditorium for Highland Church. The lot has been landscaped.

Mr. Rushing says, "Missions is not limited to four groups or four churches. There are others just as exciting. Recently we visited church services in a new auditorium where services were being held for the first time. Here we had looked the community over to find a place for the beginning of a mission, and found it in one end of a plumbing shop. Then in the spring a tent was provided for a revival and Bible School, then used regularly until torn and worn to pieces by wind and rain. A brick veneer building was constructed (which is now the pastor's home).

"After this building was crowded another temporary building was erected. Now a larger brick building has been built and has been in use for a short time. Three hundred people were at the first service in it.

"How did the people do it? Through faith. When a finance company was asked for a loan the company asked them to prove they could handle a larger loan. The congregation doubled the payments and got the additional loan. Faith leads to action. There were 352 enrolled in Sunday School last year, with an average attendance of 162 and a budget of $16,484.30."

The "romance of missions" continues. Seven new churches have been constituted during the past five years in Jones County. One has been the re-activating of a church which had been inactive for 15 years. It now has a full-time program and is taking care of all expenses without outside help.

Another church was admitted to the association only a year ago. Having baptized 51 and added 36 others the church won and baptized more than any other church of the 42 in the association, during the year.

Mr. Rushing has come to the conclusion that "it is so that people have not gone to the dogs but are downright interested in spiritual and moral values when once they see with their own eyes that there is something to Christianity. Missions pay high returns, financially, morally, spiritually, economically, socially..."

largement effort among the churches.

With still another month to go in the enlargement emphasis, 140 members have been enrolled in the churches of the association. Reports received up to January 24th are as follows: Salem, 3; Union, Sr., 19; Siminary, 3; Collins, 16; Cold Springs, 10; Mt. Horeb, 7; Leaf River, 2; Mt. Olive, 2; and New Hope, 50, for a total of 140 new members enrolled.

Three new unions have been organized: Ora Church, 1; Mt. Olive, 1; and Collins, 1.

We congratulate this association for this successful enlargement emphasis.

MAKE YOUR RESERVATIONS FOR KITTIVAKE

If you are planning to come to Kittivake Baptist Assembly for the two weeks of Training Union Assemblies, we suggest that you send in your reservation fee right away. The two Training Union weeks at Kittivake are listed as follows: July 2-7 and July 9-14.

A registration fee of $2.00 is necessary for each reservation. Mail it to the Training Union Department, P. O. Box 530, Jackson, Mississippi.

Note: Juniors must be accompanied by a guardian (Age 17 or older).

DESOTO ASSOCIATION CAMPAIGN

The Associational Training Union of DeSoto Association, under the leadership of Eldridge Ross, Associational Training Union Director, has scheduled a Simultaneous Training Union Enlargement Campaign during the week of March 4-9, 1956.

Pleasant Hill, Horn Lake, Olive Branch, and New Prospect are the churches listed to participate in the campaign.

Mrs. A. A. Greene, of West Point, will teach the Nursery, Beginner, Primary Leaders each night at the Olive Branch church. Classes will be provided for all age groups.

The Greatest Of These Is Evangelism . . . .

Valentine's Day has turned many hearts to the thoughts of love . . .

The love of young sweethearts, the love of husband for wife, of wife for husband, of parent for child, of child for parent, the love of friend for friend—each is great. But the love of God for man excels them all. In fact, GOD IS LOVE.

If we love God then we have love in our hearts for our neighbor. And our neighbor may be anyone anywhere in the world. If we have love in our hearts for God, will we not be evangelists?

Then is not the following paraphrase of the "love chapter," I Corinthians 13, particularly fitting? Love and evangelism are very closely connected.

"Though I speak with the tongues of scholarship, and though I use approved methods of education, and fail to win my pupils to Christ, or to build them up in Christian character, I am become as the moan of the wind in a Syrian desert.

"And though I have the best of teaching skill and understand all mysteries of religious psychology and though I have all biblical knowledge, and lose not myself in the task of winning others to Christ, I become as a cloud of mist in an open sea.

"And though I read all Sunday-school literature, and attend Sunday school conventions, and institutes and summer schools and yet am satisfied with less than winning to Christ and establishing my pupils in Christian character and service, it profiteth nothing.

"The soul-winning teacher, the character-building teacher, suffereth long and is kind; he envieth not others who are free from the teaching task; he vaunteth not himself, is not puffed up with intellectual pride.

"Such a teacher doth not behave himself unseemingly between Sundays, seeketh not his own comfort, is not easily provoked.

"Beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things.

"And now abideth knowledge, methods, evangelism, these three; but the greatest of these is evangelism."

—A paraphrase of I Corinthians 13 by Dr. Joseph Clark.

A Convict Offers Some Good Advice

Minor Sorber now languishes in the security cell at Parchman Penitentiary. He has been condemned to die as a convicted murderer.

In a letter to Dr. Kermit Canterbury, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Indianola, he offers some good advice to parents and to preachers. He advises:

"Be sure to preach to the young people. Tell them to go to church. I never had much to do with church. Tell them that God is handy around a church but you can't find Him around a bar."

Most preachers do what he advises. If there be any who do not, may we emphasize the fact that he urges that preachers consider the young. He is absolutely correct.

There are some exceptions but most converts are won to Christ before the age of 18. Every preacher should always keep in mind the fact that it is easier to win the young than it is to win the hardened sinner of middle or old age.

He urges church attendance and admits that he never had much to do with the church.

Had he had more to do with the church, the chances are he would have had less to do with jails and would not now be facing execution.

Perhaps in his younger years, he had few invitations to go to church. If those Christians of his neighborhood had put on an intensive visitation and soul-winning campaign, perhaps he would have been won to Christ and not drifted into a life of lawlessness.

To those few who shun visitation we offer Sorber as proof of the need.

And to those who want liquor legalized and made easy to get we again quote: "God is handy around a church, but you can find Him around a bar."

Had he spent more time in churches and less time in bars he probably would be a worthy and productive citizen instead of a condemned murderer.

More Mixing Of Church And State

The following news item is more evidence of the effort being made to combine church and state.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (RNS) — Rep. William T. Granahan (D-Pa.) introduced a bill in the House to have Good Friday declared a national legal holiday.

Good Friday is not observed by many denominations. Many do observe it. To us it's just another day. Every Friday to us is Good Friday. Any church or congregation or denomination is free to observe Good Friday as they like. But why force it upon people who do not care to make it a special day?

This is just another effort in the continuing effort to get government backing for a religious practice.

Abraham Lincoln—

Last Sunday, February 12 was Abraham Lincoln's birthday. Why is it that nearly one hundred years after Lincoln's death we as a nation remember his birthday? Why is it that he is remembered as a great man? Is it just the fact that he was President of the United States? No, we think not. Lincoln had some characteristics of mind and heart, some principles that set him apart from the average man, or from the average President.

We would do well to stand for the things for which Lincoln stood:

In Lincoln's character, honesty and sincerity prevailed. During the War Between the States he led the people as no other man has ever done. It is to him that today we owe a unified nation.

In one brief speech at Gettysburg he spoke his philosophy. . . . that we were highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain, that this nation under God shall have a new birth of freedom, and that Government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Mrs. Lincoln gave a good description of Lincoln's attitude toward his family: "Mr. Lincoln was the kindest man and most loving husband and father in the world."

Tenderhearted Mr. Lincoln was always helping the "down and out." He was a homely, humble fellow, but spoke with such eloquence that people forgot his looks.

As a young rail splitter, Lincoln did not fear hard work. Lincoln loved to read and when he was young, walked miles to borrow books (they were few in the log cabin where he lived) and he read them by the firelight. Of Abraham Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt wrote:

"He built up his entire reading upon his early study of the Bible. He mastered only one or two other books; . . . mastered it so that he became a man of one book, who knew that book and instinctively put into practice what he had been taught therein."

So this book did three things for Lincoln: 1. It gave

Dr. A. L. Goodrich, Dear friend:

The Baptist Record with the "new look" is wonderful, and I want to extend my hearty congratulations. I can well imagine some readers, set in their ways, not liking it now, but coming to prefer the new style later. At any rate I really believe that the change is all for the better and that even better days lie ahead for the Record.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Dr. Goodrich:
I just received my copy of the February 9 issue of THE BAPTIST RECORD. I am very much impressed with the newspaper sized edition. We hope that this very excellent Baptist newspaper will continue to appear in this more impressive form.

Congratulations and best wishes in continuing to do a fine job in editing our Baptist paper.—Wayne Coleman, Pastor, First Baptist Church, Natchez.

JONES COUNTY MINISTER APPROVES GOVERNOR'S STAND

Laurel, Miss., January 28, 1956
Gov. J. P. Coleman
Office of the Governor
Jackson, Mississippi

Dear Mr. Coleman:

In its regular monthly meeting on January 26, The Jones County Ministerial Association went on record as heartily favoring the steps you have already taken to rid our state of liquor, crime and vice. Furthermore, we want to commend you for the splendid work you are doing relative to law-enforcement. We have long felt the need for just such forthright leadership as you are giving, and we want to assure you of our appreciation.

Our aim as ministers is to help, through redeemed humanity, to build the kind of society in which young people may grow up surrounded with the proper moral and spiritual atmosphere. We find that purpose extremely difficult to achieve when liquor, gambling, crime and vice go unchallenged and unchecked. Therefore we are profoundly grateful for your attempt to give us law-enforcement and good government.

We are unalterably opposed him a liberal education; 2. It gave him style, so the Gettysburg Address and the Second Inaugural Address were not accidents but the natural products of a mind which had lived with the finest literature in the world; 3. Most important of all, there was the powerful effect of the teachings of the Bible upon Lincoln's character.

Hundreds of people climb the steps to the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D.C. every day to see a statue of a man whose "moral loftitude, humility, respect for human rights, and sublime faith in God were out of the literary company he kept."

In conjunction with this, we express our opposition to the Black Market tax and other practices which place Mississippi in the liquor business.

If there is anything we can do individually or collectively in cooperation with your efforts, please feel free to call on us.

Yours sincerely,
W. Levon Moore, Secretary
The Jones County Ministerial Assn.

GOD'S WORKMANSHIP

I saw a man the other day. He was looking upon a greater day for Mississippi Baptists. In his eyes were boys and girls and young people, — yes, boys and girls and young people of Mississippi Baptists. He watched them become aware of the wonderful precision and definiteness with which God uses the details of life to draw boys and girls and young people into the destiny of their tie to Jesus Christ. He saw "God's workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works, which God afore prepared that we should talk in them." He saw Kittiwake Baptist Assembly.

When I saw what he saw something happened to me. I prayed that Mississippi Baptists would see the vast possibilities of Kittiwake Baptist Assembly and would give of their money, their time and their talent to make the vision of Christ Jesus a reality without delay. Kittiwake Baptist Assembly is God's answer to the prayers of thousands.—William P. Davis

HE APPROVES SEMINARY EDITORIAL

Dr. A. L. Goodrich, Editor
The Baptist Record
Jackson, Mississippi

Dear Dr. Goodrich:
Let me thank you for your February 2 editorial entitled "Baptist Seminaries, Are By-Passed."

Recently I was much concerned by a misleading headline relative to the Rockefeller Foundation grant of ten million dollars to the interdenominational seminaries. The headline (SEMINARIES GET TEN MILLION DOLLAR GRANT), if read alone, could obviously be construed by our constituency to refer to our Southern Baptist theological seminaries.

Obviously, any one or all of our five Southern Baptist seminaries would have been happy to have had a share of the grant, had it been made available to us without obligations attached. As you so well point out in your editorial, however, the Foundation apparently chose to deal strictly with interdenominational institutions at the present time.

I was especially grateful for most mixed up country preacher among Southern Baptists. If I am, just throw this in your wastepaper basket and forget it. God bless you in your work there.

Yours respectfully in the service of Christ,

Faith Healer Arrested In Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (RNS) — Evangelist Jack Coe, controversial "faith healer" from Dallas, was arrested here after one of his "cures" allegedly caused a severe setback for a young Miami boy fighting to recover from polio.

Police arrested Mr. Coe in the huge tent where he had been holding nightly "healing" meetings for a month. He was booked in Dade County jail on a charge of practicing medicine without a license, and released under $5,000 bond.

The Miami Herald disclosed that the pudgy evangelist collected upwards of $2,500 a night from the 5,000 to 10,000 people attending and figured to clear at least $30,000 for his five-week meeting.

The complaint which led to Mr. Coe's arrest was lodged by a young mother who had taken her crippled three-year-old son to a healing ceremony in the hope that he could be cured.

Mrs. Ann Clark said Mr. Coe rubbed some oil on the head of her boy, George, and pronounced him healed.

Then the evangelist ordered her to take the braces off her son's legs and have him walk without them for a few days, Mrs. Clark said.

Her pathetic story of how her deep religious faith caused her to expose the boy to three days of suffering was unfolded before Peace Justice Hugh F. DuVal, Jr.

"When he told the boy's parents to throw away the leg braces, he was no longer using religious faith to heal, he was engaged in the medical profession," A. C. Dressler, Ass't. County Solicitor said.

Mrs. Clark said the day after the braces were taken off, George's legs began to swell and the ankles turned sideways. Two days later she took the boy to her physician who said that if the braces had been left off any longer "irreparable damage would have been done to the bones and joints of the lower extremities and spine."

staunch for the faith once delivered to the saints and keep on supporting our seminaries who are teaching our young men what the Bible says and not as somebody warps it." Pray with us that we shall always do just that.

We are continually grateful to you for your many years of service and your wonderful friendship toward all of us here at Southern Seminary. I hope that God will continue to bless you for many years to come as you serve him in so many ways.

Very sincerely,

Boggett, Dillard

Dear Dr. Goodrich:
May I comment on the recent write-up on "Board of Deacons"?

Our Baptist people need much more explanation and instruction on the deaconship through our Baptist papers.

If the term "Board" carries the implied meaning of POWER, I think it should be board. Now, it is our duty to get it across to all deacons of all our Baptist churches that dictatorial power is not the kind of power we speak of.

Deacons must have power — power from God, Power to love, Power to pray, Power to be in "one accord", Power to tithe, Power to stand up for Jesus, Power to "speak up", Power to keep on and on for the greatest Cause on earth, Power to work and pray with the pastor and move like a great TEAM, as Servants,

Then the greatest of all — power to come before a democratic body and say, "After much prayer and consideration we bring you these recommendations for your vote and approval."

Bro. Goodrich, I may be the most mixed up country preacher among Southern Baptists. If I am, just throw this in your wastepaper basket and forget it. God bless you in your work there.

Yours respectfully in the service of Christ,

THE EDUCATION DIRECTOR AND THE PASTOR

By JAMES H. GRIGGS
Education Director
Park Place Church, Houston

Forty or more years ago pastors began to feel a need for assistance with the education program of the churches. As the pastors felt this need, God called the necessary workers into full-time Christian service. The education director must be just as definitely called of God as the pastor.

Why Have a Director?

The Sunday school is the outreach agency of our Baptist churches. The masses are brought into the churches through the Sunday school, which is not only the Bible teaching agency but the enlisting and evangelizing agency of the church.

Every church needs a large and strong Training Union to assist in developing necessary leadership for the total church program.

The growth and effectiveness of both the Sunday school and Training Union depend upon the enlistment and training of workers and the promotion of the right type of program. These are endless processes with which the pastor needs help. This is where the education director comes in.

The relationship of the education director to the pastor has received much notice but not too much intelligent consideration.

Duties of the Director

First, the education director is an assistant to the pastor. Simple logic and reasoning will support the fundamental principle that there can be only one pastor of a church, and he is the scriptural leader of the church.

The writer has felt that his pastor is responsible for the total church program. He is his pastor's assistant in the field of religious education.

Second, the pastor and education director should feel a strong spiritual tie. I Corinthians 3:9 states: "For we are God's husbandry."

Third, there must be a sense of identification on the part of both the pastor and education director. They must have a feeling of belonging to each other. So far as the church program is concerned, each should feel that an attack on one is an attack on the other. If they hang, they should hang together.

Fourth, the pastor and education director must be willing to accept the individual differences of each other. They must accept the distinctive fine qualities of each other and allow for one another's deficiencies. Fifth, the education director should keep the pastor informed about what is going on around the church. The director cannot and should not attempt to promote anything without the undivided support of the pastor. It is evident that the pastor should have complete confidence in his assistant and give him freedom in suggesting and promoting plans.

With a spirit of frankness and humility, the pastor and education director should face all problems together.

Sixth, both men must possess personal emotional security. It is because of the absence of this quality that differences usually arise. Out of the inner make-up of men arise those impulses which tear them down, make them ugly in character, and keep them from working together in harmony. These character traits steal away beauty of conduct and peace of mind.

An education director or pastor who has a diseased ego has a real enemy. An education director with such an ego will not be willing to play "second fiddle." The pastor stands higher than any other staff member in the eyes of the people of the church. This is proper. But what difference does "high" or "low" make in Christian service?

Jesus said, "But it shall not be so among you, but whosoever will be great among you, let him be your servant: even as the son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister and to give his life a ransom for many." It should be understood that our personal security is gained by staying in the will of God and not from being considered first in the eyes of people.

Jealousy is a Sin
Nothing in human experience

reveals a man's feeling of insecurity more than jealousy. This is a sin of small people. It arises between pastors and education directors over ill-defined responsibilities, attention from members of the congregation, salaries, housing, and other matters. There is no place for jealousy in a Baptist church.

The question is raised as to what a pastor and education director should do when they find themselves unable to agree. There are instances when two men are seemingly so far apart in opinions that they simply cannot work together. In these circumstances what should the workers do? As we look into the Scriptures we find several precedents which may well be followed.

Paul Set an Example

Paul and Barnabas could not agree on John Mark as a member of their missionary team. Their differences were so great that they parted company, but their friendship continued. Paul wrote nothing unkind to the churches about Barnabas and John Mark.

The education director and pastor should seek a way to part in a Christian spirit when necessary. It seems only logical that the education director, as the pastor's assistant, should let the Lord lead him to another field and they should forever remain Christian friends. It seems that it likely would not be the Lord's will for an education director to serve very long in a church where he was not in complete accord with his pastor. The differences between the pastor and education director should never interfere with the spiritual life of the church. As the Lord leads, the education director may slip quietly away to another field.

There are many excellent men serving in the churches as education directors. These men thoroughly understand their work and enjoy a happy relationship with their pastors. These are God-called men who are helping their pastors lead the people in carrying out the teaching phase of the Saviour's Great Commission.

Man Of Distinction

Really the title of this article should be "woman of distinction." But it's distinction, whether male or female.

The incident reported below will not appear in any advertisement put out by the liquor industry in which they emphasize the fact that liquor makes "men of distinction."

A Chicago paper reports that an unemployed barmaid was held by the grand jury on charges of assault to kill and assault to commit mayhem. She is charged with slashing a five-year-old neighbor girl eight times on the face and head. Her excuse was that she had been drinking and passed out.

Here is more than one angle to the word "distinction."

A woman is in jail. She admits being drunk. A little girl carries eight scars on her face and head and probably is disfigured forever.

May we suggest that it would make one of the liquor ads on "Men of Distinction" more attractive if they would secure a photograph of this little child and its face and scars.

Lottie Moon Offering Exceeds $200,000

You will rejoice with us that the Lottie Moon Offering for Foreign Missions has reached the total of $207,336.85 to date. There are a number of Missionary Societies that have not yet sent in their offering. The total received last year was $170,538.92. We are listing below the amounts that have been received through February 14.

Sparks &amp; Splinters

The many Mississippi friends of Rev. N. R. Stone will be interested in knowing that he is a patient at the University Hospital, Jackson, where he had an operation this week. He is in room 709. The Rev. Mr. Stone has served in pastorates in Mississippi, Alabama and Florida, and has organized several churches in Mississippi.

"A church is evangelistic when it has a spiritual concern for sharing the gospel with as many as possible and introducing the Lord to as many as possible. This is something far different from desiring a large and beautiful building, with a large and prosperous membership to pay the debt and provide for maintenance, together with interesting and edifying services and sermons that draw large congregations — though to these also none of us can object. A church is evangelistic only when it shares the active concern of God himself that anybody anywhere anytime may turn to him and have life eternal." — From the Telescope Messenger, weekly publication of Evangelical United Brethren Church.

The Bethlehem Church at Harrisburg, Mo. announces the ordination of its pastor, Rev. J. Gordon Kingsley, Jr. He is a 1955 graduate of Mississippi College and is presently studying in the graduate school of the University of Missouri. While at Mississippi College he was distinguished for his literary and scholastic work and graduated with an "A" average. The ordination was held at his home church, the Woodlawn Church of Pensacola, Fla. His father, Rev. J. G. Kingsley Sr., presided at the service.

The life story of missionary Aaron and Hilda Hancock of McAlester, Oklahoma will be off the press in time for use as supplementary reading for the Home Mission study of Indians, according to announcement by Dr. J. Clark Hensley, Pastor of the First Baptist Church, Pualaski, Tennessee, who has written the Hancock story, MY FATHER IS RICH. It is not only a biography of the Hancocks, who for thirty years have served as missionaries among the Indians; the book is replete with their experiences of the Indian mission fields. The book may be ordered direct from the Hancocks or from the Baptist Book Store.

The monthly report of the Southern Baptist Convention reveals that during January

Mississippi gave $39,040 through the Southwide Cooperative Program and $41,995.78 designated, making a total of $81,035.78 for Southwide causes. For the same month in 1955 Mississippi gave $47,479.55 through the Cooperative Program and $51,272.24 designated, making a total for January last year of $98,751.79.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (RNS)—An estate estimated at $750,000 was left to First Presbyterian church here in the will of the late Gertrude H. Duncan, a former member. It is one of the largest gifts ever made to a single institution in this area. Miss Duncan was one of Johnstown's wealthiest citizens. The estate includes considerable downtown real estate, cash and securities.

HANDBOOK OF DENOMINATIONS IN THE UNITED STATES is a revised and enlarged edition is written by Frank S. Mead and published by Abingdon Press, Nashville, Tennessee. The price is $2.95. The volume includes 266 denominations; with a compact account of the history, doctrines, distinctive characteristics, and present status of each. It is arranged alphabetically with similar bodies grouped together for quick comparison, and includes a table of church membership in the United States. The author has prepared the book from the latest and most authentic data available, concerning himself only with known facts. The data was read and corrected by denominational authorities. Order from the Baptist Book Store or the publisher.

Having served the Pinckney Church in Newton County as treasurer for 25 years, Mr. J. E. Collins has resigned because of failing health. The church has expressed its appreciation for his long and faithful service. He will be succeeded by Melvin Leach.

Call unto Me, and I will answer thee, and show thee great and mighty things which thou knowest not. — (Jeremiah 33:3.)

It is the Lord God Almighty, creator and ruler of the vast universe, who invites us mortals. His children, to call upon Him in our despair and distress. He, ever merciful, ever loving, will answer us — such is His promise, the greatest and mightiest of all the things in the world, the hope of all mankind.

His Life Lives On

T. T. Gooch

There is an oft-quoted phrase, "He was faithful unto death." But T. T. Gooch, a beloved Baptist of Oakland, and one of the most faithful Christians in that area, or any area, has improved on the above saying. Not only was he faithful unto death, but he is faithful after death.

A few months ago Mr. Gooch was killed in a truck accident. But before his death he had made arrangements for a part of his estate to be used for Christian education purposes.

He often said that he was not able to get a Christian education, but he wanted to help others to have the privilege which was denied to him.

Not only did he leave some of his own estate for Christian education purposes but he left others to do likewise. A letter from one of his relatives states that upon his advice she, too, is planning to leave some of her property to Christian education.

Before his death Mr. Gooch had made the following gifts:

1. To Clarke Memorial College 21 shares of Lamar Life Insurance Company stock which sold for $2,173.32.
2. To William Carey College (then Mississippi Woman's College) 21 shares of Lamar Life Insurance Co. stock sold for $2,173.32.
3. Annuity gift of $500 to be divided equally between our five seminaries, Blue Mountain College, Clarke Memorial College, Mississippi College, William Carey College, and the Orphanage.

Gifts turned over to institutions upon his death included 19 shares of Mississippi Chemical Corporation stock to Clarke Memorial College and 19 shares of Mississippi Chemical Corporation stock to William Carey College.

Sunday School Lesson

JESUS DEMANDS A CHOICE
By Clifton J. Allen
Luke 18:18 to 19:10

The supreme issue confronting every man is his response to Jesus Christ. This is as true now as it was in the days of his flesh. The rich young ruler came with his earnest inquiry about eternal life. Jesus took advantage of his response to declare an awful warning about the peril of riches, not because riches are inherently wrong but because men are so easily enslaved by them.

Once again, Jesus announced to his disciples his forthcoming crucifixion and resurrection, a fact which they could not comprehend. Passing through Jericho, he healed a blind beggar and led Zaccheus to glorious conversion. In these dramatic events there was a crescendo of truth about spiritual salvation.

I. A Seeking Sinner (vv. 1-4)

Since the whole system of collecting taxes was carried on by greed and extortion, we can safely assume that Zaccheus had become rich by shrewd and merciless dealings with his deputy tax collectors and with the people generally. He was so eager to see Jesus that he ignored the almost universal contempt and hatred of the people of Jericho in order to join the crowd. Then, because of the crowd, he forgot his prominence as a chief tax-collector and did a boyish thing — climbed a sycamore tree to see Jesus as he passed.

What explains his anxiousness to see Jesus? He was rich in worldly goods, but poor in his soul. As he saw poor people losing their homes to pay extortionate taxes he must have felt the wrath of God resting on him.

II. Seeking a Saviour (vv. 5-7)

Jesus wanted a lodging place. But, far more, he wanted to save lost men. He was alert to every opportunity to show kindness to the despised and outcast, to encourage the lonely, and to show his concern for guilty sinners. Jesus ignored all the animosity of the Jews toward Zaccheus by indicating that he wanted to be a guest in his home. No wonder Zaccheus hastened down from the tree and received Jesus with unreserved joy.

III. A Saved Man (vv. 8-10)

Here we see Jesus in his true role — seeking lost men. Something happened in the life of Zaccheus. His consci-

BAPTIST PREACHER INDICTED, ACCUSED OF PRINTING HERESY

(17th Century Press)
AILESBERG, England, October 9, 1684 — (BP) — Benjamin Keach, a Baptist preacher, has been indicted on a charge of printing a book, ostensibly for children, which contains "damnable positions" contrary to the Book of Common Prayer of the Church of England.

Keach was arrested at the order of Justice of the Peace Strafford and was released under bond of one hundred pounds. All copies of the book, The Child's Instructor, found at Keach's house were seized. The indictment charges that the "seditious and venomous book" contains the following heresies:

1. Advocation of believer's baptism.
2. That Christ shall reign on earth in the latter days.
3. That church membership should be for believers only.
4. The eternal safety of unbaptized infants.
5. That laymen with ability may preach the gospel.
6. The sinfulness of insisting upon a hired ministry.

The indictment labeled the Baptist minister "a seditious heretical, and schismatical person, evilly and maliciously disposed, and disaffected to His Majesty's government, and the

1956 April Emphasis

Stresses Preparation For Leadership
Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 16 — "Prepare for Leadership" has been announced as the theme for the 1956 April Emphasis on Christian Education, sponsored annually by the Education Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention.

ence was awakened with a sense of guilt and moral purpose. He was drawn to Christ by forgiving love, and faith sprang up in his soul. He broke and with his past in repentance and faced life with a new outlook.

The words of Zaccheus amount to a confession of faith. They were proof of genuine conversion. He suddenly felt that he must make restitution, even fourfold, for what he had taken in false accusation.

Thus honesty replaced dishonesty, restitution replaced greed. He had a new heart and in that heart there was moral purpose and a desire to share.

government of the Church of England."

In addition to the charges enumerated, the indictment further accused Keach, "And many other things—hast thou seditiously, wickedly, and maliciously written in the said book, to the great displeasure of Almighty God, the disaffection of the King's people to His Majesty's government, the danger of the peace of this kingdom, to the evil example of others, and contrary to the statutes."

Brought before the court for a hearing yesterday, Keach became the target of an abusive attack by the presiding judge before the indictment was read. Then the judge held up one of the books and asked the minister if he had written it. Keach readily admitted that he had written "the greatest part of it."

The court pressed for an indictment during the first day of the session, but a true bill was not returned until today. The defendant asked for a copy of the indictment and the privilege of consulting a lawyer, but both requests were denied. He will be tried by jury.

Kits containing samples of materials for the Emphasis are being mailed on February 27 to pastors and Training Union directors in more than 23,000 churches in the Southern Baptist Convention. The sample packet contains an order form so that directors may order additional kits from the Education Commission. Many churches will schedule the Leadership Emphasis in connection with Youth Week, April 1-8.

Pamphlets, study materials, and a chart showing the vocational interests of Southern Baptist boys and girls have been produced to assist Training Union directors and leaders in planning an effective and worthwhile Emphasis. The sixteen-page basic pamphlet, "Prepare for Leadership," provides check sheets on leadership potential—revealing points at which improvement needs to be made by the individuals. Included also is a Plan Sheet which outlines in detail procedures for using the materials to the greatest advantage.

The emphasis on leadership was selected because of the urgent needs for dynamic, trained Christians to lead in all affairs—civil, business, and church. The program focuses the attention of Intermediates and Young People on the basic characteristics of leadership and preparation to accept the responsibilities which will be thrust upon them in the near future.

Blue Mt. Has Vocation Week

Blue Mountain — Vocational Emphasis Week was held at Blue Mountain College last week. The theme was "My Life According to God's Purpose." The program gave direction, practical and inspirational, toward a better understanding of one's aptitudes, talents, and training in the light of God's purpose.

Speakers for the occasion were: Dr. Denton Coker, professor of religious education at Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Wake Forest, N. C.; Miss Mary Ann Crum, fashion buyer, Louisville, Ky.; Mrs. Bill May, Blue Mountain; Bill McBeath, medical student, University of Louisville; Miss Mary Jo Ray, B. M. C. Alumnae Secretary; Mrs. Sybil Townsend, hostess, New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary; Jim Woodward, music director, Parkland Church, Louisville, Ky.

Frank Halbeck Leaves Home Board

Frank Halbeck, superintendent of Jewish work for the Home Mission Board, has resigned effective March 1, to re-enter the seminary. Halbeck is the author of the recent book, Our Jewish Neighbors, released by the Home Mission Board.

Jewish evangelism has followed the plan of church-centered evangelism. Halbeck has suggested the development of the local church program for reaching the Jews. The department has encouraged friendliness with the Jewish people.

Since Halbeck has been with the Board, several field work-

MR. JAMES V. LACKEY

The workers in Young People's departments and classes over the state will have the happy privilege of attending conferences directed by the South-western superintendent of Young People's work, during the state Sunday School Convention, March 12-13, in the First Baptist church of Jackson.

Mr. James V. Lackey, of the Baptist Sunday School Board, Nashville, is making an excellent contribution to the promotion of Young People's work over our territory, and we are indeed grateful to him for his willingness to come to our Convention and share with our workers some of the good things he has to offer. The work with this group, the young people, is of such paramount importance just now that it deserves the very best all of us can give.

Therefore, we do most earnestly urge our officers and teachers of Young People's department and classes from all sections of the state to make definite plans now to attend that Convention. Do not let this opportunity pass. It doesn't come too often, and we want to make it count for the most for this year and those that follow.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

TIME
That time this early?
Yes, sir, it sure is and getting no earlier fast.

The best schools are those that are prepared for in the most efficient manner, and that takes plenty of time. So, this is not at all too early to make preparation for your school this year.

And remember: We must ever keep before us the goal of having both bigger and better schools. Both of these require time and planning.

So, start planning now. If you have not already started, for that 1956 Vacation school.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL CLINICS AND STANDARD

This year we are having three

Sectional Vacation Bible school clinics, instead of the one statewide as heretofore. These three will be as follows: Water Valley, March 5; Carthage, March 6; Prentiss, March 8. The program for each day will begin at 9:00 in the morning and close at 9:00 in the evening. The three meetings will make it easier for more workers to attend. Plan to attend the one most convenient for you.

The Vacation Bible school, Standard is made up for the express purpose to help us do better work for the boys and girls. It is not something to achieve, but to aid us in making thorough preparation for the best possible work, with all workers fully trained for their places of leadership. So, use it accordingly.

50, 40 and 25 Years Ago

By Rev. J. L. Boyd, Sr.

50 Years Ago

Mrs. O. L. O'Brian of the Ladies Aid Society of the Magee Church reports on the letter of appreciation from the Home Board Missionary, Rev. J. F. Hamilton, Indian Territory, for the Christmas Box of clothing and other articles worth one hundred dollars which the Magee and Braxton societies sent them in December. The pastor of the Magee church was Rev. A. L. O'Brian and of Braxton church, Rev. G. W. Riley.

40 Years Ago

The Baraca (Men's) Bible Class of the Columbus Baptist Church issues a weekly bulletin "with ginger in it," prepared by its president, V. B. Imes. The teacher is H. L. Whitfield and pastor, Rev. J. L. Vipperman.

The Clinton Church closed a very successful revival meeting with 72 accessions, fifteen of whom were for baptism, and at the close Rev. Zeno Wall, who had been the visiting preacher, was "unanimously called to the pastorate of the Church."

25 Years Ago

Rev. J. P. Williams of Mendenhall closed his pastoral career of forty-four years' duration on the fourth Sunday night (January) with the D'Lo Baptist Church. The Mendenhall people gave him and Mrs. Williams "a parting gift of a radio." (Mrs. Williams is still a resident of Mendenhall.)

Pastor Won't Pay Bills

Question: What are you going to do with a pastor that just will not pay his debts?

Now don't tell us that we are not paying him enough. He is making more than the average family of his congregation. We recently raised his salary and one man paid some of his debts for him. He spends money on TV sets, cold drinks, and other luxuries, and lets his bills go unpaid.

It is hurting the cause of Christ. What can we do?

Answer: Just such a case came to my knowledge recently and I will tell you how it was solved.

This was a fine pastor, a good preacher, but a sorry financier. After some of the members began to gossip about the matter, a fine young deacon, about the age of the pastor, went to see him about it.

He assured him that he loved him and that he was not trying to criticize him. He talked over his financial problems with him. They worked out a budget together. The deacon took some cash which the pastor had on hand and paid some pressing bills. The deacon gave him counsel on the meeting of future bills. They agreed on further stated interviews about the matter. Real improvement was made.

This makes sense to me. After all, every pastor has some weaknesses. And he does not have a pastor. If some member of the church could be a real Christian brother to him, it might help an otherwise passive individual.

(Address questions to Dr. Hudson, Wornall Road Baptist Church, Kansas City, Missouri.)

How Many Sacrifices?

But don't Protestants believe that every sin must be paid for? Jim asked his friend, a well known Bible-believing Protestant layman. "Why, yes," Ted replied, "Protestant have always believed that all sin must be paid for."

"But you don't believe that church attendance, donations to the church, going to mass, and repeating prayers help to pay for sins, do you?"

"No, Jim, the Bible makes it clear that none of our actions, however good they may be, can help to pay for our sins. From the beginning of time there has been only one sacrifice for sin. The Bible says: 'Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many.' (Hebrews 9:28)

"Do you mean that there is nothing we can do to help pay for our sins?" Jim continued.

"If we follow the Bible," Ted replied, "it is the inescapable conclusion that there cannot be any further sacrifice for sin. Nothing we do, nothing we give, will serve to gain merit for us in the sight of God. Everything that can be done has already been done in the sacrifice of the Son of God, Jesus Christ."

"Well, then, how do we gain favor in the sight of God?"

American Church Delegation Going To Russia

NEW YORK (RNS)—A delegation of eight U. S. Protestant leaders will visit Moscow in March for conversations with Christian leaders in the Soviet Union.

It will mark the first phase of a two-way visit that will bring Russian churchmen to the United States next June. Each visit will be for a period of about ten days.

It is hoped that the visits will afford an opportunity for an exchange of views respecting the life and work of the churches in the two countries, including efforts of the churches to achieve a just and durable peace.

While the deputation does not expect to go anywhere but Moscow, it hopes to establish contact with churches in the Soviet orbit generally through the Russian Orthodox Patriarchate and the representatives of these churches in Moscow.

Improve Church Opens New Education Bldg.

Stonewall Church Dedicated Jan. 29

January 29, 1956, the Stonewall Church observed a day of Dedication, during which the present church structure was dedicated debt free. Approximately five hundred church members and friends attended.

Those taking part in the program were: Rev. Solie I. Smith, Canton; Rev. Sidney Nobles, Meridian; Rev. John Morgan, Stonewall; and Rev. William H. Ross, present pastor.

A bountiful noon meal was served.

The $15,000 debt on the church was paid in less than five years.

THERON J. HARRIS

T. J. Harris beloved member of the Galilee Church of near Rockport passed away suddenly February 1, 1956.

His funeral service was conducted on February 2 by Rev. James Berch, his pastor, of Jackson, Rev. Jack Courtney of Wesson and Rev. Rowe Holcomb of Hazlehurst.

Mr. Harris was born in Rockport on September 2, 1883 and had spent his entire life there.

For thirty-five years he had served as deacon of his Church. Many people pay tribute to Mr. Harris, who lived a beautiful example before us in friendship, in patience, in loyalty, in sacrifice, and in countless other ways.

He rendered a service through our church which should encourage us onward to greater undertakings for our Saviour.

This faithful service and loyalty of T. J. Harris should through memory of him inspire many.

Signed: Pastor, Deacons and Members of Galilee Church, Rockport.

THE BAPTIST RECORD KEEPS MISSISSIPPI BAPTIST PEOPLE INFORMED.

Billy Graham's Indian Audiences Are Like Those In Biblical Times

Washington, D. C.—SPECIAL At this writing final reports on the tour which Evangelist Billy Graham is making of six cities in India are not available. However, the following report has been compiled from cabled information received in the Washington, D. C. Press office.

Flying 8,000 miles from New York to Bombay, Billy Graham was welcomed by a group of Christians who had fervently prayed and worked for his coming with the message of Christ. However, almost simultaneously with his arrival mob violence broke out in Bombay thru internal political trouble. The days to follow were described as the blackest days in the history of ancient Bombay.

Subsequently, the Bombay meetings long planned for had to be cancelled due to the rioting and the excessive unrest which inflamed the people. Visiting troubled areas of Bombay, Mr. Graham was appalled with the great physical and spiritual poverty he saw there, and urged Christians around the world to pray for this needy land with its 400 million people.

Although the riot situation in Bombay had forced cancellation of the large public meetings, the cause of Christ in that vital area was not without honor. Christians were united as never before and a Ministers' meeting held early one morning in a great assembly hall was jammed to capacity despite the tremendous difficulties the men faced in getting there through troubled zones. Although the meeting was of a closed nature, hundreds forced their way in from the streets to listen to the American evangelist encourage the ministers and missionaries to carry on for Christ.

Great Contribution To American Friendship

Commenting on this visit of Billy Graham to Bombay, a former Cabinet Member said: "The visit of this American evangelist is the greatest contribution I have known toward American friendship."

Interest was also evidenced by those in other walks of life of the City of Bombay. At a press conference held also behind closed doors, much interest was evidenced by forty press representatives — not only for news stories but for personal help — as the discussion turned into a theological conference.

The evangelist was strongly urged to return to Bombay for the large meetings after the rioting had ceased. However, a very full schedule makes that virtually impossible at this time.

Moving away from Bombay to less troubled areas to the South of India, the Graham team arrived in Madras where preparations for the meetings had banded the Christians together as never before. Reports of 24-hour prayer chains for God's blessing on the ministry of His word in this vital, throbbing land were followed by similarly inspiring accounts of people who walked as many as 400 miles to attend the meetings in Madras. People poured into the city, taxing its accommodations to the utmost. When all public places for housing had been utilized, people began going from house to house, in the tradition of the Acts of the Apostles, seeking shelter. Still hundreds had to sleep in the streets — small discomfort evidently to them for the eagerly sought spiritual help.

During the three large meetings held in Madras, more than 4,000 decisions for Christ were recorded but over three times that number received Gospels of John as an indication of their desire to accept Christ as Saviour. At every meeting counselors in all the languages were desperately lacking as the overwhelming response exceeded all expectations and preparation. More than 100,000 Indians heard the evangelist during that three-day visit to Madras. Probably the highlight of the stay was when addressing 10,000 of India's finest young men and women students, 250 of these future leaders stepped forward in response to the invitation to receive and to follow Jesus Christ.

Kottayam, at the Southern tip of India, was the next stop for the Graham team. There public interest was so great that hardly had they arrived in the city when almost unannounced a preliminary service was held for 25,000 people who gathered to hear the evangelist. 75,000 turned out the next night for the first scheduled service and at the final meeting in Kottayam, according to an Associated Press wire service report more than 100,000 gathered, making that number second only to the London Wembley Stadium meeting in 1954 when 120,000 attended.

300,000 In Three Days
300,000 persons to hear the Gospel message in three days was the final total in Kottayam.

Local leaders were greatly encouraged and Bishop C. K. Jacob stated: "These are the largest Christian gatherings ever to be held in the history of India." Considering that to the majority the only means of transportation is walking and that more than half of those who attended the services had to come from a distance of ten miles or more outside the village, the significance is far greater than for services of like number elsewhere.

One American reporter vividly described the Kottayam services as follows: "Huge throngs of pedestrians completely block the streets of the tiny village for hours before and after each meeting. Thousands must walk many miles after the meeting in inky darkness through tropical jungles to their homes. The setting of the meeting is strange and exotic — palm trees surround the area with a rice paddy background. The whole picture reminds one of the Sermon on the Mount — 30,000 women were seated on hillside terraces at the right and above the platform and 45,000 men were seated on palm leaves on terraces forty feet below the platform. At the invitation which evangelist Graham gave these thousands to accept Christ, hundreds surged forward and quickly overflowed three separate counselling areas."

"Unprecedented in the history of evangelism" is the report sent to his paper by another American correspondent. "It is incredible and almost impossible to believe even though I have seen it — hundreds of these Christians of India gathering for prayer at four o'clock in the morning and praying all day until service time in the evening."

Congress Acts To Prevent Sunday Inauguration

WASHINGTON, D. C. (RNS)—Congressional leaders acted quickly to prevent the next Presidential inauguration from falling on a Sunday.

The House unanimously approved a proposal to advance the date from Sunday, Jan. 20, to the following day. The action was in the form of an amendment to a Senate bill setting up the official inaugural commission. The amendment was sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Inauguration day next year falls on a Sunday for the first time since the 20th Amendment to the Constitution, adopted in 1933, changed the date from March 4 to Jan. 20. President Eisenhower's term will expire at noon on Sunday, Jan. 20.

Rep. John W. McCormack (D-Mass.), House majority leader who sponsored the amendment, said that the President-elect could take the oath of office privately on Sunday and publicly on Monday.

Under the 20th Amendment it also would be possible for the Vice President-elect to serve as "Acting President" for a day, if that were deemed preferable. The Vice President-elect would not have to take the oath of office himself in order to do so.

Church Ushers Get Advice From Expert

DALLAS, Tex. (RNS)—Church ushers should not embrace the ladies, tell fish stories during the sermon, or "snoozer" the collection plate, an expert advised here.

E. M. Hosman of Omaha,

Nebr., dean of the School for Church Ushers, was in Dallas to conduct a course in new ushers can win friends in the congregation and help churchgoers to a satisfying worship experience.

Ushers from 49 churches of this area signed up for the course at First Methodist church.

Mr. Hosman is a great believer in having trained and

Seminary Baptist Choirs Receive New Robes

The Senior and Carol choirs of the Seminary Church, Covington County, have been robed through the generous gifts of three Crosby families.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Crosby and daughter, Prestine, of Jackson, standing to extreme right, presented the Senior Choir with full length forest green robes and pale green stoles. Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Crosby and son, Charlie, and Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Crosby, standing to extreme left, presented robes to the Carol choir made of identical material and colors as that of Senior Choir.

Serving as a committee in studying the color scheme of the new church and purchasing robes were Miss Thelma Lee, Chairman; Mrs. R. A. Timbes, and Mrs. W. C. Robertson.

Members of the choirs who were unable to be present for pictures are: Hilda Crosby, Ikey Aultman, Sandra Kitchens, Mr. W. C. Robertson.

thoughtful people on hand to engineer the movement of crowds.

He said that ushers could have prevented or minimized the recent fire tragedy at a church special near Baltimore, Md., which claimed ten lives.

Church ushering is not for women, Mr. Hosman believes. High heels slow them down, unsteady them, he said. Besides, most women are not strong enough to cope with emergencies as a sudden illness where somebody has to be carried out of the church.

The dean has strong views on the subject of distracting influences in church which interfere with proper worship.

He mentioned as examples: a beautiful blonde in the choir wearing pendulous sparkling earrings; and an usher noisily opening a window while the minister is preaching.

Mr. Hosman said that when he began the school for ushers 15 years ago it was with the thought that churches could thus improve their public relations.

Bankers and airlines have their front men, why not churches? he observed.

About 15,000 ushers have taken his course, which covers such points as proper dress, welcoming, helping the infirm, crying babies, the etiquette of handling the occasional drunk who wanders into church, what to do in emergencies like fire or illness.

His don'ts for ushers include these: "Don't shake hands unless a member wants to (a handshake can be excruciatingly painful to a person with arthritis).

Don't be a bird watcher "searching for pigeons on the rafters" while the rest of the congregation is bowed in prayer.

Don't use the wet-thumb method in passing out programs.

Don't maud the women or soil immaculate clothing with perspiring fingers.

Don't open church doors until the service is over, else people will leave early.

"Churches spend too much money for good ministers, beautiful buildings and fine music to have some careless ushers louse up the worship experience," Mr. Hosman said.
